

Grant Writing Workshop for Graduate Students in the Humanities and Social Sciences

30 September 2004

9:00am-Noon

Jones Room, Woodruff Library

This workshop is designed for graduate students at all levels in the Humanities and Social Sciences. It will provide an overview and useful information about the various stages of developing a funded research proposal, including presentations on how to search for funding sources, application procedures at Emory and on line applications, how to write a good proposal, and how multidisciplinary granting committees read and evaluate proposals. Presentations will be followed by a panel of graduate students from a range of disciplines who will discuss their experience with grants and proposals.
